IOWA VOTERS VINDICATE BROOKHART

INSURGENT WINNER OVER CUMMINS VOTE TABULATION SHOWS

Man Defeated In 1924
In Turn Wins Over
Incumbent

DES MOINES, Ia., June 8.—Smith W. Brookhart, insurgent proponent of farm relief and former U. S. Senator today apparently had been vindicated by the Iowa Republican voters who failed to elect him in 1924.

Returns from 1,314 of state's 2,447 precincts showed Brookhart leading in race for Republican nomination to the senate by more than 30,000 votes over his closest opponent, the veteran Senator Albert B. Cummins.

The vote was:
Brookhart 124,213; Cummins 58,758; other republican candidates were trailing far behind.

Politicians were inclined to believe votes from the remaining 1,133 precincts would give Brookhart a much greater plurality. Some estimated he would win by 70,000.

In the Democratic race, Claude Porter, who is considered the best Democratic vote getter in the state apparently had a safe lead over his nearest opponent, J. C. Murtach.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The victory of Smith W. Brookhart, insurgent in the Iowa Republican Senatorial Primary over Senator Cummins, incumbent, was met here today by varying interpretations. Among insurgents and farm relief bloc members it was hailed with satisfaction. In administration quarters it was taken as an indication the west was in revolt. Rightly or wrongly the fall of Cummins was viewed as a severe slap at the Coolidge regime.

Opponents of the administration chorused that it was a new handwriting on the political wall rounding out the recent defeats to administration men in Illinois and Pennsylvania.

FOUR CANDIDATES FILE INTENTIONS TO RUN FOR OFFICE

With the "dead line" or final date for filing petitions only three days away, four additional declarations of candidacy, one each for county commissioner, county recorder, county auditor and Democratic State Central Committee, subject to the August 10 primary, were filed with the board of elections Saturday and Monday.

Entrance of Paul F. Dye, Urbana, as Campaign Committee member in the race for membership to the Democratic State Central Committee from the Seventh Congressional District, was announced Monday.

Dye is the son of Thomas Dye, Urbana, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, and was at one time a candidate for congress opposing United States Senator S. D. Fess.

Herman W. Eavey, president of the board of county commissioners, filed his declaration of candidacy for the Republican nomination to this office for a second term. Only one vacancy exists in the board this year.

Thomas, has filed his petition seeking the Republican nomination for another term as County Recorder.

County Auditor Ralph O. Wead filed his formal declaration of candidacy for re-election for another term with the board Saturday.

WAYNE COUNTY GRAND JURY WILL PROBE SITE GRAFT NEXT WEEK

Donahey Inquiry Concerns Allegations That Official Arranged To Get Commission From Sale of Tract

COLUMBUS, O., June 8.—The Wayne County grand jury will convene next week to investigate charges of graft in connection with the proposed purchase of a site for the new northern Ohio institution for the feeble-minded, it was announced today.

The inquiry asked by Gov. Donahey will involve allegations that J. T. Hogsett, chief agriculturist of the state welfare department had sought and arranged for a "commission" on the purchase price of proposed sites at Apple Creek and New London.

Hogsett has denied the charge and at his own request he has been granted a leave of absence pending outcome of the investigation. The leave was granted by State Welfare Director Harper.

BRIAND HALTS DEATH OF AMERICAN MEMBER OF FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION

Premier Acts Without Being Solicited To Save Life Of Biloxi, Miss., Youth—Boy Alleged To Have Deserted

PARIS, June 8.—Acting on Premier Briand's instructions, War Minister Paul Painleve today telegraphed the general commanding the army of the Orient at Damascus, ordering him to prevent the execution of Gilbert Clare, American member of the foreign legion. (Clare is believed to be Bennett Doty, of Memphis, Tenn., and Biloxi, Miss.)

This step was undertaken despite the fact that Paris has not been officially informed of any order to execute Clare, the war minister having no facts on the case beyond the information that the American was charged with attempting to desert.

At the war ministry doubt was expressed of the report that the council of war had ordered the execution of an American since under normal circumstances Paris would have been advised of such an order.

At the time Briand acted, American Ambassador Herriek had not yet received instructions from Washington in the case, but a half hour later he was instructed to intercede informally on the American's behalf.

Sheldon Whitehouse, of the American Embassy staff, will call on the foreign office today to discuss the case.

Premier Briand's act in which he used his powers of grace without consulting President Doumergue was a dramatic one. Getting his information from newspapers without official reports confirming that the American was in danger, he acted even before being approached by friends of the prisoner.

GROWTH OF LOWDEN- DAWES RING IS SEEN BY PARTY LEADERS

Farm State Revolt Draws
New Clique Into
Limelight

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Growth of an unpremeditated Lowden-Dawes wing in the Republican party was foreseen by national political leaders here in the accumulating administration reverses in several primaries, accentuated today by returns from Iowa.

The three big leaders of the party in the West—former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, who declined the vice presidential nomination in 1924, Vice President Dawes, Chicago, and Senator Jim Watson, whose control of Indiana was strengthened by his recent primary majority—are being drawn together by the revolt of a farm states.

All three are joined in leadership of the movement to upset President Coolidge's program for mild farm legislation.

Lowden has been campaigning for the equalization fee method of price stabilization for agricultural products for months; Dawes has been studying the economic side of the problem also and recent public statements authorized for him pledges to that system, against which Mr. Coolidge has warned. Watson has swung the Republican organization of his important home state for the plan and similarly against Mr. Coolidge in the world court issue.

All three are mentioned as prospective presidential candidates but they could agree on Lowden if they decided he had the best chance.

The party plans to cross the state to Marietta and then cut north to the National Trail for the return trip.

GOVERNOR TOURS NEW A. P. HIGHWAY

MANCHESTER, O., June 8.—Gov. Vic Donahey left here today on his tour of the recently opened Atlantic and Pacific Scenic Highway. He is accompanied by a number of state highway department men, including Director G. F. Schlesinger. The executive plans to make Portsmouth by noon and spend the night at Ironton.

A meeting was held here last night but the governor shielded political issues and spoke only of the great future of Southern Ohio. The party plans to cross the state to Marietta and then cut north to the National Trail for the return trip.

The bodies of Mrs. Mary Ponzelli, 65; Mary Mazola, 4, and John Mazola, 2, were found burned in the cottage at the edge of the Jamaica Marshes late yesterday.

MINE UNION ORDERS ALL CO-OPERATIVE MINES TO BE CLOSED

Ultimatum Issues On Request Of Idle
Miners

NELSONVILLE, O., June 8.—All Hocking Valley coal mines operated by miners through sub-leases or on the co-operative plan were ordered closed today by the United Mine Workers of America.

The order, if fully carried out, would end production in the Hocking Valley field, it was declared.

The ultimatum, it was understood was issued at the behest of 1500 idle miners who met here recently and condemned the co-operative and sublease plans.

The miners, according to information here charged the coal so produced was being bought more cheaply by the operators than the latter could produce it.

Scores of mines in this region have been operated under the sublease and co-operative plans, it was charged.

Today's mandate, issued from mine workers headquarters at Indianapolis, specified that any union miner continuing work in leased holdings or under the co-operative system would be expelled from the union.

BELIEVE WOMAN AND CHILDREN SLAIN

NEW YORK, June 8.—The murder of an aged woman and her two small grandchildren was suspected by police today as they investigated a fire in a small cottage on Long Island.

The bodies of Mrs. Mary Ponzelli, 65; Mary Mazola, 4, and John Mazola, 2, were found burned in the cottage at the edge of the Jamaica Marshes late yesterday.

At first it was believed they had died in the flames but an autopsy disclosed the woman had been beaten to death with a club and the girl stabbed repeatedly in the abdomen. The boy's body was too badly burned to permit definite conclusions.

AUTHORIZE PROBE OF GAS COMPANY

COLUMBUS, June 8.—The state utilities commission today authorized nine cities opposing rate increases of the Logan Gas Company to investigate the company's properties to determine reproduction value, and to examine the concern's contracts.

The cities receiving the authority were Athens, Ashland, Bucyrus, Bellevue, Chillicothe, Crestline, Elyria, Marion and Mount Gilead.

A concerted request for the authorization was lodged with the commission a few days ago. It means in effect that legal representatives of the cities may delve into the company's records, examine contracts pertaining to property and records of other property involved in the supplying of gas service.

AFFIRM AND DENY FINDING OF ROSS

NEW YORK, June 8.—The report that Mr. and Mrs. Pierre C. Starr had found the long sought Charley Ross, kidnapped half a century ago in the person of Julia S. Dellinger of Denver, N. C., has aroused controversy here.

Walter Lewis Ross, kidnapped in 1874 with Charley Ross but later released, declared the man's claims were preposterous. However, Frederick R. Lewis, of North Bergen, N. J., who knew Charley Ross as a child called on the man supposed to be Charley Ross and later announced his conviction that the identification was correct.

SEVENTH EXPECTED TO DIE IN HOSPITAL RESULT OF INJURIES

Premature Blast Is
Blamed; Workmen
Buried By Sand

BERKLEY SPRINGS, W. Va., June 8.—Six men are dead and another was in a critical condition today following an explosion in the sand pit of the Berkley Springs Glass and Sand Company here.

The dead:
Oliver Moon.
Irving Henry.
George Wall.
Romanie Dawson.
Emory Miller.
J. W. Miller.

Filmora Norris is in a Hagerstown, Md., hospital and is not expected to live.

The deaths of the men resulted from a premature explosion of dynamite late yesterday.

The Sand Company is owned by Henry B. Bridges, of Baltimore.

The tragedy occurred when the fourteen men were preparing the final blast of the day. As the rule they were able to leave the pit before the charge exploded, but it was believed the fuses were lighted with undue haste.

There was a sharp detonation and before the workmen could escape, tons of heavy sand wholly or partially buried them. The workmen at the plant nearby rushed to the spot and dug the dead and injured out while doctors from Hancock, Md., were sent to the scene.

ADVOCATES OF TAX REDUCTIONS THINK CUTS ARE POSSIBLE

Government Fails To Borrow First Time
Since War

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Advocates of further tax cuts were encouraged today by announcement from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon that the government for the first time since the war has found it unnecessary to borrow to carry on the nation's business.

Administration supporters were still wary of predicting the treasury would be able soon to make new tax cuts but the politically wise insisted treasury indications now point to the chance of cuts by 1928—presidential election year.

Secretary Mellon announced the government will make no offering of bonds or certificates for sale on June 15.

This departure from the unusual procedure on the quarterly tax payment dates has been made possible on account of the increase in income tax and other receipts over earlier expectations," Mellon said.

"The amount of taxes to be collected in June together with the balance on hand is expected to be sufficient to meet the treasury's cash requirements until September when further financing will be necessary."

Mellon explained the aggregate public debt of about $333,000,000 falling due on June 15 is somewhat smaller than usual.

REPORT THREATS TO KIDNAP DUCHESS

LONDON, June 8.—Threats have been made to kidnap the Duchess of York, daughter-in-law of King George and Queen Mary, today's daily Mirror said. An illiterate letter containing the threat was intercepted en route to her royal highness, the paper reported.

It was understood the letter mentioned the Duchess' impending visit to Sandwich as a guest of Lady Astor as the time determined upon for the kidnapping. A lunatic with a hatred for the entire royal family is believed to have written the letter. It was reported a letter similarly scrawled missive was received at Buckingham Palace a few days ago.

MRS. LANGLEY WILL SEEK NOMINATION

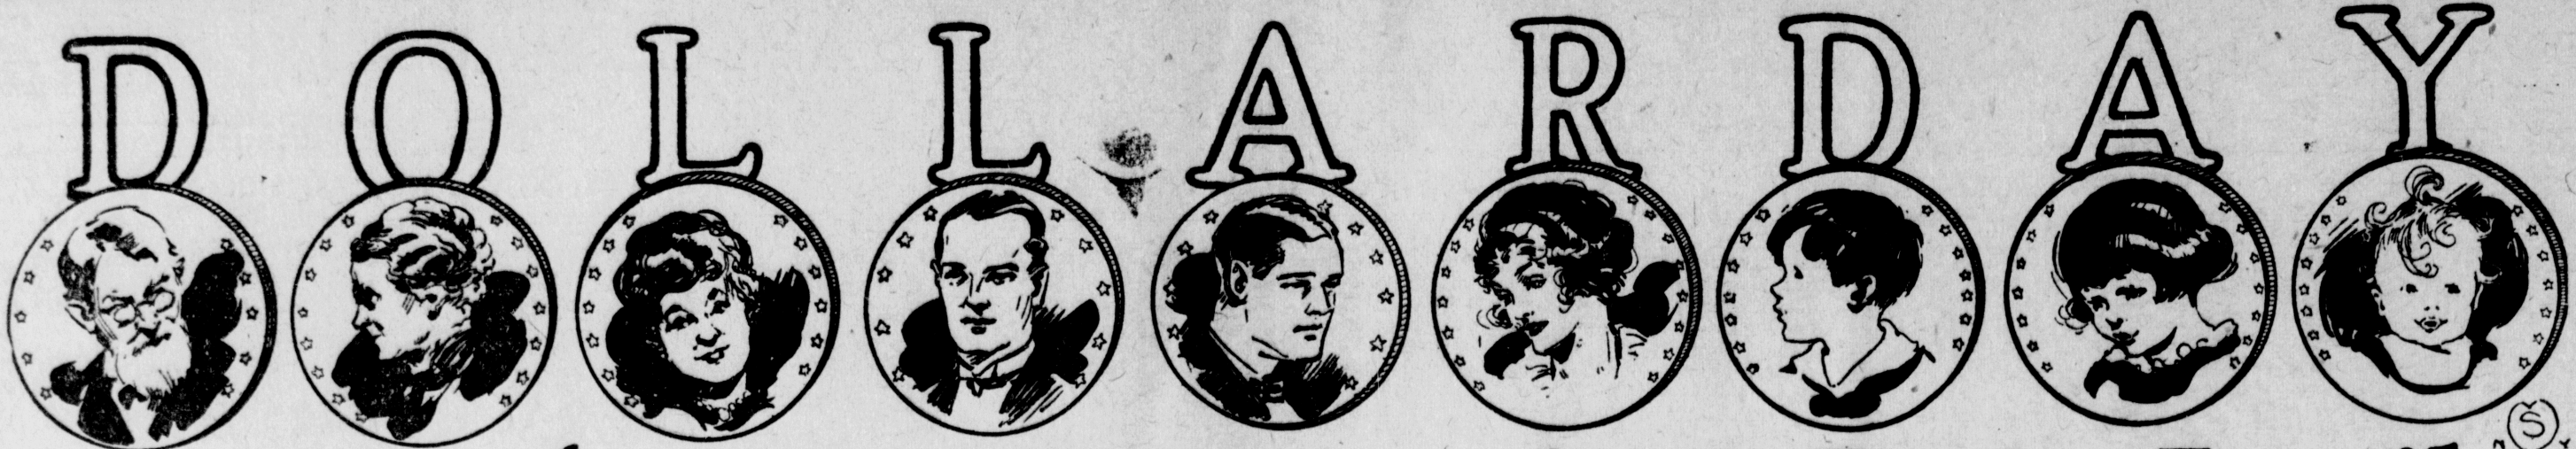

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 8.—Mrs. John W. Langley, of Pikeville, wife of a former Congressman, who is serving a two-year term in the federal penitentiary, has announced her candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress from the 10th district.

Langley formerly represented the tenth district. He was committed to the penitentiary several weeks ago after the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals and the U. S. Supreme Court affirmed his conviction on charges of conspiring to violate the liquor laws.

A. J. Kirk, of Pikeville, was elected early this year to serve out Langley's unexpired term.

CEDARVILLE MAN MARRIED AT PEEBLES

A beautiful June wedding was celebrated Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when Miss Anna Ruth Graham, Peebles, O., became the bride of Mr. Willard Kyle, Cedarville.

The Rev. Paul Ferguson, pastor of Peebles United Presbyterian Church, officiated at the service, solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Alva Graham. The bride's costume was white satin back and skirt, with crystal beads and fringe. She carried a bouquet of roses, sweet peas and fern, with a ribbon shower.

Miss Lorena Leamen played the wedding march from Lohengrin. After the ceremony, a refreshment course was served to the sixty guests present. A handsomely decorated cake and roses adorned the bride's table, seating fourteen.

The bridal party left their home on a motor trip and on their return will reside on Mr. Kyle's father's farm, which is in the course of re-modeling.

Mrs. Kyle is the only daughter of the late County Commissioner John Graham and Mrs. Graham of Adams County. She is a graduate of the Peebles High School and was a student of music of the Conservatory at Cincinnati. Mr. Kyle is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Kyle, Cedarville. He is a graduate of Cedarville High School and of Cedarville College. He has been teaching in high schools four years but will now engage in farming, in partnership with his father.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kyle and Mr. Wilbur White, of Xenia, attended the wedding.

EVENING PARTY FOR COUPLE GIVEN FRIDAY

A delightful "shower" was given in honor of Mrs. Howard Smith (Erma Long) Friday evening by Miss Ilo Long and Mrs. Maynard Long at the home of the latter on Trumbull St.

The color arrangement was carried out in pink and white. The court decided that where it is proven the agent taking the insurance knew of the incumbrance of the property at the time the policy was taken, the company is chargeable with such knowledge and the insurance is presumed to be valid, the question of waiver, in our judgment, is not involved."

The Hartford Fire Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn., must pay Rufus Glass, Greene County farmer, $7,108.20 on an insurance policy, the amount of a verdict returned by a jury in Common Pleas Court in October, 1925, as a result of loss of his home by fire, the Court of Appeals ruled Monday.

Adhering to its recent ruling on the appeal of the insurance company, upholding the trial court finding, the Appellate Court refused to grant the application for a rehearing of the case.

In applying for a rehearing, counsel for the insurance people relied principally on two propositions: First, that the court erred in holding the plaintiff was not bound to allege a waiver of the written or printed terms of the policy in respect to incumbrance of property, the second challenging the court's proposition in its opinion the burden of proof was upon the insurance company to

DALLYING WITH DEATH

THE revelations made by the federal prohibition commissioner regarding the quality of the liquor forming the staple trade of the bootlegger industry confirm, officially and emphatically, the previously generally held opinion as to the dangerous nature of the stuff which finds so ready a market at fancy prices. The risks run by the consumer of illicitly vended intoxicants may be inferred from the commissioner's statement that only 1 per cent of the liquor in 80,000 samples seized in raids and analyzed by the industrial alcohol and chemical division during the fiscal year just ended was found to be genuine. The remaining 99 per cent was either moonshine whiskey, or redistilled denatured alcohol or, in the best case, goods smuggled in or illegally withdrawn from bonded warehouses and in both instances stretched and doctored and sold in fake containers.

To read of the conditions under which the modern moonshine whiskey that has sprung into being to meet the demand it produced must give anyone who has been indulging in that sort of stimulant cold shivers up and down the spine. The filth of the wash-boilers and other vessels, the insect, animal and metal deposits which the liquor itself contains and the fusel oil, aldehydes and furfural which are invariably present are eloquent proofs of the poisoning process to which the user of this compound of deleterious impurities subject himself.

A still greater menace to health and to life itself is denatured alcohol which has been redistilled, diluted, flavored and colored and then put in bottles with forged caps, labels and stamps and sold as one or other of the well-known brands. The drinking of this stuff results sometimes in instant death and often in atrophy of the optic nerve, with consequent total blindness, and in various diseases of the kidneys and bladder.

To have anything to do with these concoctions is a demonstration of the lengths to which on the one hand human depravity and on the other human folly will go. The official revelations now made may not perhaps inspire any greater respect for the law, but at least they ought to act as a deterrent against a continuance of that self-destruction to which so many citizens have been deliberately subjecting themselves.

THE TRAGEDY OF JAPAN

THE beauties of Japan conceal and to some extent compensate the ruthlessness which lies beneath the smiling island. The climate is mild, the landscape lovely and the seasons rich with natural beauty.

But behind these beauties and nature's other gifts to Japan one sees the essentially barren nature of much of the country, the prevalence of shattering earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, destructive floods and typhoons. Nowhere does nature smile more benignly nor rage more terribly.

The helplessness of Japan in the face of natural disasters is again demonstrated by the sudden and disastrous eruption of a supposedly extinct volcano. While the eruption of Mount Tokachi is a small disaster compared with the earthquake of September 1, 1923, which took the toll of nearly 250,000 lives and destroyed property valued at two and a half billion dollars, it emphasized the tragic uncertainty of life on these Pacific islands.

On these volcanic islands, smaller in area and far less fertile than California, are crowded sixty millions of people who do not find life easy in spite of their cherry blossoms and chrysanthemums and who are too ambitious and capable to be passively fatalistic. If it is true that nature improves her creatures by making them struggle for survival the Japanese race will be better for its fight for existence against the forces of nature.

TEN-DOLLAR GOLF HOSE

I am no Walter Hagen, but I drive and pitch and try to putt; I cannot play like Bobby Jones. My game produces countless groans. I am a golfer, I suppose. But I don't wear ten-dollar hose.

"Now, gaze on these," the store man said—
A pair of hose in gray and red.
"There's nothing like them made on earth
For durability and worth.
These stockings are the final word."
They were the loudest I have heard.

"Listen one moment, now," said he
"These stockings have a history,
The sheep on which this wool was grown,
A king in Europe used to own.
And Robert Bruce, I am informed,
In hose like these his ankles warmed."

"Unless my memory sadly fails
The still unmarried Prince of Wales
When golfing garters round his knees
A pair of stockings just like these."
Said I: "Twere shame to shove my toes
Through royal and historic hose,
The Prince of Wales wears these?
He can,
The prince is not a married man."
"Behold, how truly these are made!"

"They all look bad when once they're frayed."
"Ten-dollar hose. Serve your pride!"
"My game's not worth it," I replied.

I would advise you to make a place-dolly (mine consist of five thicknesses of muslin bound together with silk binding tape and stitched across, on the machine.) A Madeira set is more practical than any other because its linen is dead-white and therefore will not fade or "bleach out" if acids are applied to it to remove fruit stains or other bad stains.

M. L.: "Do you like the glass coasters which go under tumblers to protect the table or luncheon dories from spilled water? If so,

Answer: Yes, I personally like, and always use, coasters. For ordinary, everyday, family wear, the cut glass ones are best, as they require no silver-cleaning. Or you can use the very inexpensive green kind imported from Europe. But for guest occasions the silver-rimmed coasters are of course most effective. Many folk consider these coasters out of style—but it's all a matter of taste. They are particularly useful in families where there are children, or when one has obnoxious guests frequently. They save much laundering and drying of wet table cloths or dories.

Answer: "Some time ago one of our readers asked for a good orange marmalade recipe. You gave her a fine one, but here is one which I can recommend too: Slice thinly enough oranges to fill one standard measuring cup. Add two and one-half cups of cold water and let stand several hours (three hours or longer). Then bring slowly to a boil and cook thirty minutes, or till the rinds are tender. Let stand overnight, and in the morning add the juice of one lemon and as much sugar as the whole measures. Boil rapidly uncovered, for twenty to twenty-five minutes, when the liquid should form a jelly when cooled. Turn into sterilized glass-jars, and cover with paraffine when cold."

Answer: Thank you for this excellent recipe.

HIGHER THAN

The Yearly Sales of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Woolworth Building in New York City, which towers 792 feet above the street, is our highest building.

If all the bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound sold in one year could be placed end to end, they would make a column as high as the Woolworth Building with enough left over to extend from Lynn, Mass., to Cleveland, Ohio.

"I have lots of work to do and I am not very strong, but I was getting worse all the time until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used to lose my appetite completely at certain times, but I feel very well since I began taking this medicine. I think so much of it that I would go before a notary and swear to its merits. You and you will find a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Mrs. FRANK M. CASEY, 220 S. 11th Ave., Mount Vernon, N. Y."

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS

It was seventy-eight years ago, in 1848, that Xenia may be said to have inaugurated its present system of having a superintendent in charge of the schools.

Contract for a new building for Xenia provided for by the election of September 20, 1847, was let March 11, 1848. This first building stood on the site of the old Central building on E. Market St. and was completed before the close of the year; at least, records show the board of education elected the first city public schools superintendent, January 1, 1849.

Joshua Hurty was the first school head. He continued in charge until the close of the school year, July 11, 1851. During the two and one-half years he was in charge, he placed the schools on a more or less graded basis with all work confined to common school branches.

Second superintendent was D. W. Gillilan, appointed in 1851. He was succeeded at the close of the year by James P. Smart, a minister, who was appointed by the board July 21, 1853. He resigned July 31, 1855. P. H. Jaquith was named to fill the vacancy and remained with the schools until the close of 1857.

J. E. Twitchell took the position in September, 1857 and managed the schools for four years. He resigned June 25, 1861. First graduates of the high school appeared in 1859: Matthew Allison, Etta Fahnstock and Mary Heat on. The high school course was first organized in 1855 but Twitchell strengthened it and placed it on a firm basis.

George S. Ormaby became school head in 1861 and served for eighteen years. He was followed in 1879 by George W. Welch for three years, who was in turn replaced by Edwin B. Cox in 1882. Cox served until his death January 22, 1912 after which the board elevated George J. Graham to the superintendency.

Mr. Graham remained until the close of the school year of 1915-16 when he resigned. Upon his resignation, John R. Patterson was elected. At the close of his first term he was elected for a five-year period. He was succeeded by C. A. Walz who resigned in 1925. Harper C. Pendry is the present superintendent serving his first term.

Today's Talk

PUNISHMENT

Somehow or other I can never reconcile punishment with a religion of love. And the religion of love is the only one I know anything about.

When a person does wrong and knows that he does wrong, he suffers enough.

Persons will never make this world a better world. To punish a child doesn't make that child good, but merely distorts his sense of proportion and pours the poison of fear into his ungrateful life.

The God that I love doesn't punish people. He merely plants understanding in their hearts and they punish themselves when they do that which is illegal in the conduct of their lives.

All physical and state punishment is a species of ignorance. Just as war is a method of ignorance and cruelty.

You find no trace of punishment in nature.

There is perfect harmony in the natural world. Even the disturbances that arise from time to time, tend only to equalize and benefit.

If nations would spend what they do for arms and powder for education, teaching men to think and to become useful and beneficial, there would be no misunderstandings that could not be settled easily over a conference table.

All offenders against society are ignorant people, no matter how keen their minds may be. To punish such people is to go into the error with them and share their guilt.

Jesus never taught punishment. And where in all history can you find an example of such conduct and inspiring character?

When a state takes a life does it give back to this world the life which its victim took away?

HANNA'S GREEN SEAL PAINT

Protection--

In August as well as January

Constantly, 365-days-in-the-year, good paint protects property against the destructive effects of hot summers and cold winters. Moisture is kept from penetrating the wood surfaces, and quick changes in temperature cannot harm the building if it is properly painted.

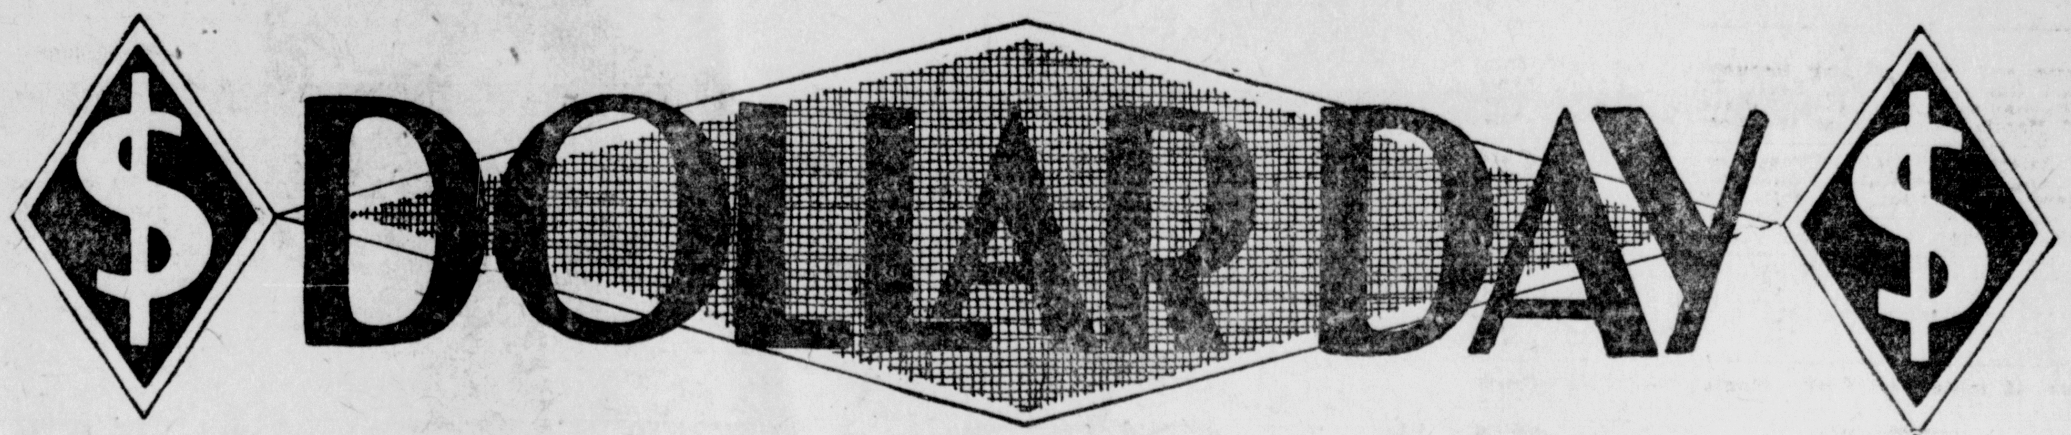

To get the maximum in the protecting power of paint use Hanna's GREEN SEAL. It forms a tough film over the surface, impenetrable by the weather. The surface is kept insulated from the elements that would age and destroy it.

MAYOR CALLS MEETING TO PLAN OBSERVANCE OF INDEPENDENCE

Sixty Xenia business men were asked by Mayor John W. Prugh to attend a meeting at City Hall Tuesday afternoon to outline the proposed Xenia observance in connection with "American Independence Week," from June 28 to July 5, inclusive.

Country-wide celebration of the 150th anniversary of American independence is being sponsored by the Sesqui-Centennial and Thomas Jefferson Centennial Commission of the United States, authorized by congress.

It is urged that a "united and uniform effort" be made in accordance with the plan for "American Independence Week" Mayor Prugh invites active support of the program for the week.

One of the purposes of the Tuesday meeting was to appoint a necessary committee to promulgate a special message calling on the people to assist in carrying out the educational and patriotic purposes of the plan.

The nationwide plan for the week follows:

Monday, June 28, celebrated as

JUNIOR NATIONAL CHAMPION

Fourteen-year-old Florence Goga, of Homestead, Pa., is the junior national A. A. U. 330-yard swimming champion. She will compete in the association's championship meet in Philadelphia August 4 to 7. This meet is part of the mammoth sports program for the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing to December 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

DELCO DEALERS AT CONVENTION HERE

Delco light dealers and service men of the Dayton district were present at a district convention held Monday at the Eichman and Miller Electric Shop, W. Main St. The convention took the form of a service school on new products. At noon the local Delco agents and visitors enjoyed a sumptuous chicken dinner served at the Goody Shoppe. Following the dinner, short talks were given by O. F. Wampler, Dayton Sales branch manager, Mr. Glass district supervisor and County Agent Kimber. In the evening a free moving picture was shown at the Caesars-creek High School by the Delco Light Co.

INSURANCE EXPERT HEARD BY ROTARY

W. J. Gilsdorf, Columbus, representative of The Insurance Co. of North America, told Xenia Rotarians "What the Businessman Should Know About Insurance," at the Elks' Club, Tuesday noon. He gave varied statistics concerning the value of insurance to business men and urged their having faith in insurance to safeguard their property. Singing of old-time love songs, including "Annie Rooney," "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean" and other time-worn melodies, led by Spencer Shank, was an amusing number on the luncheon program.

BABY CLINIC HELD AT CENTRAL HIGH

Kiwanis-Social Service League baby clinic was held in the new quarters, Central High School, for the first time, Tuesday morning. Two rooms in the second floor of the school have been fitted up for the weekly clinic. Dr. H. C. Messenger and Mrs. H. A. Hoffman, nurse were assisted by Mrs. James D. Adair, Mrs. C. E. Arbogast, and Mrs. J. H. Whitmer, wives of Kiwanians.

"Where Dad Played When Young"

By ALBERTINE RANDALL

BREAD FROM THE BAKERY HAS REPLACED KIND "MOTHER USED TO MAKE" IN XENIA

Where is the bread that Mother used to bake? Home-baking is another of those factors of home life, which, prominent a few years ago, have now almost disappeared.

It used to be that almost every woman did her own baking. "Baker's bread" was considered as an inferior commodity, to be purchased only when Mother was ill or in some other emergency. Today, mothers have done away with the drudgery of baking the same way they have done away with other things to lighten the housekeeping burden.

The farmer's wife may still take a dozen rounded, brown loaves of bread from her own oven every Saturday and feed them to a hungry family, but the wife of the city dweller or the resident of the small town is much more likely to order her bread from the corner grocery.

at the corner delicatessen nowadays. Xenia housewives, through the expenditure of a few cents, can have their sweets and bread through a hasty purchase at the nearby grocery or bakeshop.

Bakeries are now turning out bread more cheaply than ever and its quality is steadily rising. The women who still bake at home are few and far between and skill with the baking board and rolling pin is no longer a matrimony requirement.

But after all, the bread that Mother used to make was "different," wasn't it. Right now we wish we had a generous slice, with home-made jelly and butter, spread thick!

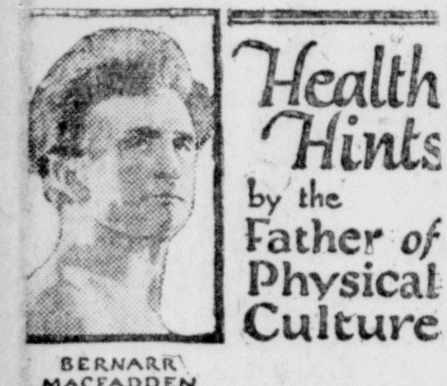

Less home-made bread is consumed in Los Angeles, than in any other American city, estimates of the American Society of Baking Engineers show. Over ninety-eight per cent of that city's bread supply comes from the baker.

Evidently moving picture actors and actresses don't relish coming off the "lot" after a hard day of registering many emotions and then mixing up a nice, big batch of bread.

Not only is home-made bread

Mrs. Mildred Devore, wife of an accountant, was arrested by New York police who said she took $100,000 worth of jewelry from Fifth avenue stores.

The material that is used for the building up of new cells, and thereby for the building up of newer and better tissues all through the body is taken from the food that is digested in the stomach and in the small intestine. This vitalized nourishment is carried to all parts of the body by the blood on its mission of building up the new cells, and hence the tissues.

But what of the dead matter—the portions of the old cells that are constantly dying off? Such matter must be removed from the body, or very soon the system will become so clogged that death will follow from stagnation or toxic conditions.

The dead matter is found in the tissues mainly in the form of carbon and its compounds. The new blood that the arteries carry from the heart to every portion of the body is laden with oxygen from the air that we breathe. The carbon is burned up by, or rather combines with, the oxygen and the result is a new compound, a gas that is called carbonic acid gas, or carbon dioxide. By the time that the bright red arterial blood has performed its mission of carrying new cell-food to the tissues, and has become the dark-colored impure venous blood, it is heavily charged with carbonic acid gas and other products of the burning up of the carbon by the oxygen.

The kidneys, the liver, the skin, and the large intestine do their share of the work of excreting waste matter from the body—but of this same work the lungs form the great central market wherein is effected the exchange of the bulk of the worthless waste matter for the new and good matter that is used in building and strengthening and invigorating the physical system.

An inhalation of air supplies the new oxygen that the purified blood needs before it can start properly equipped on its new round through the body; while the act of exhaling air from the lungs forces out of the body all of the poisonous gas that the venous blood had brought to the lungs. Therefore if the work of building up the body and of removing the waste, dead cell-matter is to be carried on, the supplies of fresh air to the blood must be both frequent and generous.

Fourteen track and field events and four swimming contests have been arranged for the amateur stars of the cinder path and water to be found in Troops No. 1 and 2, Boy Scouts of America, at their combined athletic meet June 16, it is announced.

The Scout outing will be held near the Adair cottage along the Little Miami River.

Departing from annual custom of dividing the troops and staging an intra-troop meet, followed in former years, this year's frolic will determine the athletic superiority between the two troops.

The meet will begin at 1 o'clock, fast time, and will be followed by a baseball game between the troops.

Officials for the events are George Geyer, Dr. H. C. Messenger, Schuyler McClellan, the Rev. W. H. Tilford and Scoutmasters R. H. Kingsbury and J. J. Stout.

Three points will be awarded for first place, two for second place, one for third place in each event and ten to the troop winning the diamond engagement.

The Theatre

"Since the theatrical producers and the dramatists have come to a peaceful conclusion regarding the motion picture rights of a play, many articles have appeared in the daily press and magazines concerning the future of the American theater," says Frank Armer in his column, "The New York Theater." "The whole discussion was based on the amount of money the playwrights should receive when the producer sells the motion picture rights to his play.

"Now that it has been settled that the author is to receive a much larger share of the proceeds, many leading authorities fear that the authors will write their plays with one eye on the possible proceeds from the screen productions, to the consequent detriment of the play itself," he continues.

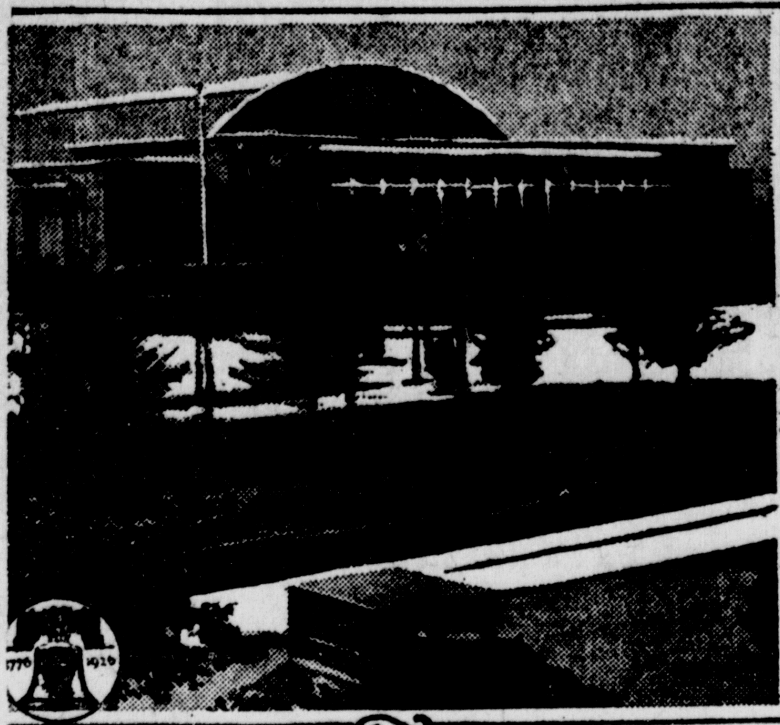

The whole discussion has thrown a spotlight of publicity on the earning powers of a play and the detailed approximate box office receipts of some of New York's leading theatrical success.

are interesting. The amount of money taken in by a play is not entirely dependent on its popularity, but is influenced by the price of the tickets which carries from $2.75 top to $5.50 and the capacity of the theater itself, which varies from 300 to 2,500 seats. "Sunny" the leader, takes in weekly over $40,000 at a $5.50 top, in the large New Amsterdam Theater.

"The Cocoanuts" report regularly about $34,000. "The Vagabond King" runs around $30,000 weekly and "Tip Toes" around $25,000. The leading dramatic successes are "Lulu Belle" and "The Shanghai Gesture." The former does about $21,000 worth of business each week and the latter about $26,000. These are the leaders, but other plays show a nice profit of from $9,000 to $20,000 weekly. The difference between the running cost of a play and its box office takings is usually split between the producer of the play and the theater management, generally on a two-thirds and one-third basis.

"Outside of escaping the Volstead law there is now no reason for New Yorkers going to Paris," says Metcalfe in the theater department of The Wall Street Journal. "The study of feminine anatomy, which has directed the voyaging of many Americans towards the Folies Bergeres and similar Parisian resorts, can now be carried on quite as thoroughly on our own Broadway. Opinions about the necessity or desirability of this kind of education so disseminated may vary, but New York has evidently decided that it wants a good part of its theatrical amusement conducted along Parisian lines, so that's that, and there seems to be no reason for further discussion in the matter."

Sesqui-Centennial Auditorium

This huge building will seat 20,000 persons on a single floor. It was erected on the site of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which opened in Philadelphia June 1 and which will continue to December 1, celebrating 150 years of American independence. Here are held all the great musical programs, receptions, dances and other social activities in connection with the Sesqui. The structure, built of steel and stucco, was erected in about 150 working days. This picture was made from the roof of the giant Palace of Liberal Arts and Manufacturers.

The Book God Wrote

Being a series of articles on why the Bible is the inspired word of God and answering critics of its authenticity, prepared and written by.

THE REV. D. A. SELLERS, First Reformed Church

My fifth reason for believing the Bible is the Word of God is because of its marvelous preservation and its wonderful indestructibility.

No other book has ever been hated and hunted down as the Bible has been. Away back in the early history of the church, edicts, backed by all the power of the mighty Roman Empire were issued that every Bible should be burned and that everyone that had a Bible should be burned. Yet there were always faithful men and women that loved the old Book better than life and hid away copies of it willing to make even the greatest sacrifice for the sake of God's Word, that it might be preserved to bless mankind.

For more than 19 centuries every engine of destruction that human science, philosophy, wit, reasoning or brutality could bring to bear upon a book has been brought to bear upon the Bible to stamp it out of the world, but it has a mightier hold on the world now than it ever had before!

The French philosopher, Voltaire, over a century ago made his great attack on the Bible. He said that in 100 years the Bible would be a forgotten book. Yet we are told that the very building in which Voltaire sat as he wrote that statement is today used as a distribution center for Bibles.

The books of Shakespeare have the greatest circulation of any book outside of the Bible. His works are translated into forty languages and 100,000 copies are issued annually.

But the Bible speaks in 725 languages and dialects and more than 20,000,000 copies are issued every year. Now who could account for this except on the ground that God is preserving His own Book?

My Matrimonial Vacation by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

NANCY LARRABEE has remained in New York with her mother.

VIRGINIA, while her husband, a young army officer,

JIM LARRABEE, goes to the Philippines. They become estranged and she writes him that she wants to divorce him and marry Bill Ewing. She received a cablegram saying that Jim has died at sea, and realizes that it is Jim she loves.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XLV—A CHANGED MAN

I COULD hardly believe my eyes, when I saw Jim there before me in the railway station.

"Oh, Jim!" I cried, and broke through the crowd to throw my arms around his neck.

"Well, this is a great welcome," he exclaimed, and kissed me. He turned then to two men who were beside him, and introduced me. "Where are we living, Nancy?" he asked.

And when I gave him the name of the hotel where I was staying, he urged the men to stay there too. "You might as well; all hotels are the same to you fellows in this town," he said.

I didn't understand. I was amazed by seeing Jim alive, and so happy that I could hardly speak. But I did wish that he'd at least let his friends follow us in another taxi, instead of going in the one we took.

He talked with them all the way. They were strangers in New York, and he insisted on pointing out things to them, hardly speaking to me.

"You'll dine with us, of course," he said, when the business of registering at the desk was over. "And then we'll take in a show. I want to have you see the town tonight."

I said nothing to him until the door of our own sitting-room had closed behind us. Then I could be quiet no longer.

"Jim, aren't you glad to see me? I can't understand the way you're acting; it seems so queer. Why did you bring those two men right along with us? Didn't you want to be alone with me?"

"Not particularly," he answered, usually.

"But Jim, I—I thought you were dead—and now here you are—and you don't care for me any more!"

"Thought I was dead!" he exclaimed. "Well, that's a hot one. How in the world did you get that idea?"

I told him about the message I'd received, saying that he had died at sea.

"Well, I can't understand—though—oh, this is it. A sailor named Larrabee died at sea, on the way home, and evidently it got twisted with my name, Larrabee—though I certainly don't understand—oh well, I'm here, alive; that's all that matters."

"Yes, it is," I answered. I stood there looking at him, realizing that I loved him more than ever. But I couldn't understand his attitude. He strolled around the room without taking off his coat, lighted a cigarette, asked about Virginia, treated me as if I'd been someone whom he knew just slightly and didn't care for particularly.

"How did you like the Philippines?" I asked finally. If he could be casual, so could I!

"Oh, very much. Awfully hot, but after you get used to the climate it isn't bad at all. And of course you get to know the other people in the regiment very well, better than you do in a big post."

"I suppose you got to know Celia Eaton very well indeed?" I remarked.

"I sure did, sharing the house with her and Bill. She made us awfully comfortable—certainly is a good housekeeper, for all she looks so helpless. Bill doesn't appreciate her, though. In fact—well, they've separated. Celia came home on the transport I took. She is going to get a divorce."

Divorce, divorce! I wished I'd never heard the word.

Suddenly I felt that I understood Jim's new attitude. I had written him that I loved someone else, and he had come home to get his freedom, and marry Celia.

Well, he should have it! I wouldn't stand in his way.

He seemed to read my thoughts. "I suppose we ought to have a talk and settle things," he suggested.

"Yes—but let's dress for dinner first. Let's see—I'll use Virginia's room and you can have mine."

"All right."

He picked up one of his bags and sauntered off through the door I'd indicated, whistling. I turned slowly and went into Virginia's room.

What a treasure of love I'd thrown away, when I wrote that message to him! I'd lost him now, forever, and nobody could ever take his place.

I asked myself hopelessly why I hadn't realized the truth, why I hadn't gone to the Philippines with him when he was ordered there; instead of staying in New York and making a perfect idiot of myself.

If only girls could really learn something about life in school, instead of just studying French and Latin!

CHAUTAUQUA AGENT
GIVES OUT TICKETS
FOR ADVANCE SALES

Chautauqua season tickets have been delivered to the local committee and early advertising has been placed by Paul A. Potts, first advance representative of the Red-path program, scheduled for Xenia, July 8 to July 14, inclusive. With the annual event less than four weeks distant, there is being planned a systematic campaign that should put chautauqua over the top, "bigger and better than ever."

Never have there been so many outstanding features on a Red-path program, as this year, according to Mr. Potts. Perhaps the headline musical event will be the Moscow Artists Ensemble—a large chorus of Russians, who present their native songs to balalaika accompaniment. Unique Russian dances will be interspersed by Mlle. Nina Sergeyeva, who also is something of a comedy artist. Costuming, scenery and lighting for this Russian extravaganza will be on an elaborate scale, especially in their presentation of "The Wedding Feast."

Two remarkably fine plays—Channing Pollock's drama, "The Fool," and Barry Conners' comedy, "Applesauce," are slated for chautauqua. Another production is the Tyrolean Yodler specialty, "Echoes of the Alps." Harold Lewis and his Symphony Players also will delight the musically inclined.

Howard Wade Kimsey, probably the foremost song director in America, will launch community singing on chautauqua's third day. Anne Campbell, who writes a daily poem for the Detroit News, will entertain with her verses. Harrison Crofford, dramatic artist, will present a miscellaneous program. Al Baker, magician and ventriloquist, will delight the youngsters on the closing afternoon.

From a lecture standpoint chautauqua is to be an instructive week of enjoyment. Charles H. Plattenburg, on the opening night, will discuss "The Modern Tale of Two Cities." Sam Grathwell, on the second afternoon, will describe the art of "Getting by Your Hoodoo." John H. Dickinson will have two popular lectures on the third day, while Thomas Curtin, international newspaper correspondent, will answer interestingly "What Is Ahead for Europe?"

Junior chautauquans will present an historical pageant, "The Quill," based on the 150th anniversary of American Independence.

Allen Building, W. Main St., it was announced Monday.

Through the show, the Garden Club hopes to educate flower lovers to cultivate better plants. Both flowers and roots of the plants will be sold.

Scientists Sail on New Far-North Expedition

Another expedition into the far north gets under way this month—the American Museum of Natural History's scientific cruise. No attempt will be made to reach the pole, as the aim of the expedition is simply to study animal and plant life in the arctic. Photos show Captain Robert Bartlett, Carl Durand and the converted Newfoundland fishing schooner, "Morrisey" in which the voyage will be made. Captain Bartlett was a member of Peary's 1909 Pole expedition and is, today, the only living white man who has come within 100 miles of the North Pole on foot. Carl Durand plans to use his famous lariat on muskox and walrus.

FOUR ARRESTED IN
RAID MONDAY NIGHT

Four men arrested in a raid on the home of Kenneth Lyle, Union Road, at 11 o'clock Monday night, are in the County Jail awaiting arraignment on various liquor charges Tuesday or Wednesday.

Lyle, Ed. Fox, Carl Craig and a fourth man named Chambliss were arrested in the raid conducted by Sheriff Morris Sharp, Deputy Sheriff George Spencer, Patrolman Charles Thompson and Special Deputy Sheriff Dilver Belde.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drug store.—Adv.

Lyle is charged with possessing liquor and intoxication, Fox with intoxication and interfering with an officer and Chambliss and Craig with intoxication.

Fox is said to have seized a pint bottle of liquor found by Deputy Spencer but was prevented from destroying it by Sheriff Sharp.

Lyle's case was turned over to Mayor John Prugh for disposition. Police say he was convicted of intoxication and fined $25 and costs only Monday morning.

IOWA VOTERS VINDICATE BROOKHART

INSURGENT WINNER OVER CUMMINS VOTE TABULATION SHOWS

Man Defeated In 1924
In Turn Wins Over
Incumbent

DES MOINES, Ia., June 8.—Smith W. Brookhart, insurgent proponent of farm relief and former U. S. Senator today apparently had been vindicated by the Iowa Republican voters who failed to elect him in 1924.

Returns from 1,314 of state's 2,447 precincts showed Brookhart leading in race for Republican nomination to the senate by more than 30,000 votes over his closest opponent, the veteran Senator Albert B. Cummins.

The vote was:
Brookhart 124,213; Cummins 88,758; other republican candidates were trailing far behind.

Politicians were inclined to believe votes from the remaining 1,133 precincts would give Brookhart a much greater plurality. Some estimated he would win by 70,000.

In the Democratic race, Claude Porter, who is considered the best Democratic vote getter in the state apparently had a safe lead over his nearest opponent, J. C. Murtach.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The victory of Smith W. Brookhart, insurgent in the Iowa Republican Senatorial Primary over Senator Cummins, incumbent, was met here today by varying interpretations. Among insurgents and farm relief bloc members it was hailed with satisfaction. In administration quarters it was taken as an indication the west was in revolt. Rightly or wrongly the fall of Cummins was viewed as a severe slap at the Coolidge regime.

Opponents of the administration chorused that it was a new handwriting on the political wall rounding out the recent defeat to administration men in Illinois and Pennsylvania.

FOUR CANDIDATES FILE INTENTIONS TO RUN FOR OFFICE

With the "dead line" or final date for filing petitions only three days away, four additional declarations of candidacy, one each for county commissioner, county recorder, county auditor and Democratic State Central Committee, subject to the August 10 primary, were filed with the board of elections Saturday and Monday.

Entrance of Paul F. Dye, Urbana, as champion county clerk in the race for membership to the Democratic State Central Committee from the Seventh Congressional District, was announced Monday.

Dye is the son of Thomas Dye, Urbana, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, and was at one time a candidate for congress opposing United States Senator S. D. Fess.

Herman W. Eavey, president of the board of County Commissioners, filed his declaration of candidacy for the Republican nomination to this office for a second term. Only one vacancy exists in the board this year.

Thomas, has filed his petition seeking the Republican nomination for another term as County Recorder.

County Auditor Ralph O. Wead filed his formal declaration of candidacy for re-election for another term with the board Saturday.

WAYNE COUNTY GRAND JURY WILL PROBE SITE GRAFT NEXT WEEK

Donahey Inquiry Concerns Allegations That Official
Arranged To Get Commission From Sale of Tract

COLUMBUS, O., June 8.—The Wayne County grand jury will convene next week to investigate charges of graft in connection with the proposed purchase of a site for the new northern Ohio institution for the feebleminded, it was announced today.

The inquiry asked by Gov. Donahey will involve allegations that J. T. Hogsett, chief agriculturist of the state welfare department had sought and arranged for a "commission" on the purchase price of proposed sites at Apple Creek and New London.

Hogsett has denied the charge and at his own request he has been granted a leave of absence pending outcome of the investigation. The leave was granted by State Welfare Director Harper.

Evidence to be submitted to the Grand Jury, according to Attorney General Crabbe will include a photostatic copy of a letter from Hogsett to Sam Bell, of Wooster, holder of options on the Apple Creek site. The letter, according to Crabbe, proves Hogsett entered into a deal for a "commission."

It was rumored last night Hogsett would resign. Later it was announced he had been granted a leave of absence.

BRIAND HALTS DEATH OF AMERICAN MEMBER OF FRENCH FOREIGN LEGION

Premier Acts Without Being Solicited To Save Life
Of Biloxi, Miss., Youth—Boy Alleged To Have Deserted

PARIS, June 8.—Acting on Premier Briand's instructions, War Minister Paul Painleve today telegraphed the general commanding the army of the Orient at Damascus, ordering him to prevent the execution of Gilbert Clare, American member of the foreign legion. (Clare is believed to be Bennett Doty, of Memphis, Tenn., and Biloxi, Miss.)

This step was undertaken despite the fact that Paris has not been officially informed of any order to execute Clare, the war minister having no facts on the case beyond the information that the American was charged with attempting to desert.

At the war ministry doubt was expressed of the report that the council of war had ordered the execution of an American since under normal circumstances Paris would have been advised of such an order.

At the time Briand acted, American Ambassador Herriek had not yet received instructions from Washington in the case, but a half hour later he was instructed to intercede informally on the American's behalf.

Sheldon Whitehouse, of the American Embassy staff, will call on the foreign office today to discuss the case.

Premier Briand's act in which he used his powers of grace without consulting President Doumergue was a dramatic one. Getting his information from newspapers without official reports confirming that the American was in danger, he acted even before being approached by friends of the prisoner.

GROWTH OF LOWDEN- DAWES RING IS SEEN BY PARTY LEADERS

Farm State Revolt Draws
New Clique Into
Limelight

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Growth of an unprecedented Lowden-Dawes wing in the Republican party was foreseen by national political leaders here in the accumulating administration reverses in several primaries, accentuated today by returns from Iowa.

The three big leaders of the party in the West—former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, who declined the vice presidential nomination in 1924, Vice President Dawes, Chicago, and Senator Jim Watson, whose control of Indiana was strengthened by his recent primary majority—are being drawn together by the revolt of the farm states.

All three are joined in leadership of the movement to upset President Coolidge's program for mild farm legislation.

Lowden has been campaigning for the equalization fee method of price stabilization for agricultural products for months; Dawes has been studying the economic side of the problem also and recent public statements authorized for him pledges to that system, against which Mr. Coolidge has warned. MINE UNION ORDERS ALL CO-OPERATIVE MINES TO BE CLOSED

Ultimatum Issues On Request Of Idle
Miners

NELSONVILLE, O., June 8.—All Hocking Valley coal mines operated by miners through sub-leases or on the co-operative plan were ordered closed today by the United Mine Workers of America.

The order, if fully carried out, would end the unusual assignment of being detailed to Dayton View to investigate complaints that airplanes were dropping oil in the Monday morning.

Local people were amused at the phenomenon but the dark, muddy water that fell could not be denied. Xenia housewives who hung clothes out to dry found them streaked with mud, so they had to be washed over again.

Windows were grimy after the "mud rain" fell. A similar experience was reported by Dayton, London and other cities over the state. Test pilots at McCook field, Dayton, had the unusual assignment of being detailed to Dayton View to investigate complaints that airplanes were dropping oil in the Monday morning.

PRISON SENTENCES AND FINES PLANNED UNDER CHURCH LAW

Provides Penalties For Violators of Mexican Clause

MEXICO CITY, June 8.—Fines and severe prison sentences are provided for transgressors of the new federal church law, an outline of the measure obtained exclusively by the United Press today showed.

The law was designed to make effective the constitutional clause which prohibits religious activities to foreigners in Mexico. The problem simmers down to one of politics. The Mexican government contends it merely desires to prevent foreign born priests from exercising undue political influence and that it can be prevented only by forbidding them the exercise of their office.

Native as well as foreign born priests will be subject to the new law, which is expected to become effective on July 15.

Foreign born priests will be prohibited from exercising their office anywhere in Mexico and native born priests will find their authority and duties strictly limited by the four walls of the churches. Prohibition of priests "mixing in politics or inciting disorders" by sermons or writing will be explicit. Protestant ministers as well as Catholic priests will be affected and foreigners will be subject to expulsion at the discretion of the secretary of the interior.

Religious newspapers will be prohibited from discussing national politics or public institutions. Fines will go as high as $250 and jail sentences will range from fifteen days to five years.

AUTHORIZE PROBE OF GAS COMPANY

COLUMBUS, June 8.—The state utilities commission today authorized nine cities opposing rate increases of the Logan Gas Company to investigate the company's properties to determine reproduction value, and to examine the concern's contracts.

The cities receiving the authority were Athens, Ashland, Bucyrus, Bellevue, Chillicothe, Crestline, Elyria, Marion and Mount Gilead.

A concerted request for the authorization was lodged with the commission a few days ago. It means in effect that legal representatives of the cities may delve into the company's records, examine contracts pertaining to property and records of other property involved in the supplying of gas service.

SEVENTH EXPECTED TO DIE IN HOSPITAL RESULT OF INJURIES

Premature Blast Is
Blamed; Workmen
Buried By Sand

BERKLEY SPRINGS, W. Va., June 8.—Six men are dead and another was in a critical condition today following an explosion in the sand pit of the Berkley Springs Glass and Sand Company here.

The dead:
Oliver Moon.
Irving Henry.
George Wall.
Roman Dawson.
Emory Miller.
J. W. Miller.

Filmore Norris is in a Hagerstown, Md., hospital and is not expected to live.

The deaths of the men resulted from a premature explosion of dynamite late yesterday.

The Sand Company is owned by Henry B. Bridges, of Baltimore. The tragedy occurred when the fourteen men were preparing the final blast of the day. As a rule they were able to leave the pit before the charge exploded, but it was believed the fuses were lighted with undue haste.

There was a sharp detonation and before the workmen could escape, tons of heavy sand wholly or partially buried them. The workmen at the plant nearby rushed to the spot and dug the dead and injured out while doctors from Hancock, Md., were sent to the scene.

DALLYING WITH DEATH

THE revelations made by the federal prohibition commissioner regarding the quality of the liquor forming the staple trade of the bootlegger industry confirm, officially and emphatically, the previously generally held opinion as to the dangerous nature of the stuff which finds so ready a market at fancy prices. The risks run by the consumer of illicitly vended intoxicants may be inferred from the commissioner's statement that only 1 per cent of the liquor in 80,000 samples seized in raids and analyzed by the industrial alcohol and chemical division during the fiscal year just ended was found to be genuine. The remaining 99 per cent was either moonshine whiskey, or redistilled denatured alcohol or, in the best case, goods smuggled in or illegally withdrawn from bonded warehouses and in both instances stretched and doctored and sold in fake containers.

To read of the conditions under which the modern moonshine whiskey that has sprung into being to meet the demand it produced must give anyone who has been indulging in that sort of stimulant cold shivers up and down the spine. The filth of the wash-boilers and other vessels, the insect, animal and metal deposits which the liquor itself contains and the fusel oil, aldehydes and furfural which are invariably present are eloquent proofs of the poisoning process to which the user of this compound of deleterious impurities subject himself.

A still greater menace to health and to life itself is denatured alcohol which has been redistilled, diluted, flavored and colored and then put in bottles with forged caps, labels and stamps and sold as one or other of the well-known brands. The drinking of this stuff results sometimes in instant death and often in atrophy of the optic nerve, with consequent total blindness, and in various diseases of the kidneys and bladder.

To have anything to do with these concoctions is a demonstration of the lengths to which on the one hand human depravity and on the other human folly will go. The official revelations now made may not perhaps inspire any greater respect for the law, but at least they ought to act as a deterrent against a continuance of that self-destruction to which so many citizens have been deliberately subjecting themselves.

THE TRAGEDY OF JAPAN

THE beauties of Japan conceal and to some extent compensate the ruthlessness which lies beneath the smiling island. The climate is mild, the landscape lovely and the seasons rich with natural beauty.

But behind these beauties and nature's other gifts to Japan one sees the essentially barren nature of much of the country, the prevalence of shattering earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, destructive floods and typhoons. Nowhere does nature smile more benignly nor rage more terribly.

The helplessness of Japan in the face of natural disasters is again demonstrated by the sudden and disastrous eruption of a supposedly extinct volcano. While the eruption of Mount Tokachi is a small disaster compared with the earthquake of September 1, 1923, which took the toll of nearly 250,000 lives and destroyed property valued at two and a half billion dollars, it emphasized the tragic uncertainty of life on these Pacific islands.

On these volcanic islands, smaller in area and far less fertile than California, are crowded sixty millions of people who do not find life easy in spite of their cherry blossoms and chrysanthemums and who are too ambitious and capable to be passively fatalistic. If it is true that nature improves her creatures by making them struggle for survival the Japanese race will be better for its fight for existence against the forces of nature.

Just Folks

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

TEN-DOLLAR GOLF HOSE
I am no Walter Hagen, but I drive and pitch and try to putt; I cannot play like Bobby Jones. My game produces countless groans.

"Now gaze on these," the store man said—
A pair of hose in gray and red.
"There's nothing like them made on earth
For durability and worth.
These stockings are the final word."
They were the loudest I have heard.

"Listen one moment, now," said he
"These stockings have a history.
The sheep on which this wool was grown,
A king in Europe used to own.
And Robert Bruce, I am informed,
In hose like these his ankles warmed."

"Unless my memory sadly fails
The still unmarried Prince of Wales
When golfing garters round his knees
A pair of stockings just like these."
Said I: "I were shame to shorn
my toes
Through royal and historic hose.
The Prince of Wales wears these? He can.
The prince is not a married man."
"Behold, how truly these are made!"

"They all look bad when once they're frayed."
"Ten-dollar hose. Serve your pride!"
"My game's not worth it," I replied.

runner, with an asbestos pad slipped under the runner.) I would also advise you to make silence pads to go under each place-dolly (mine consist of five thicknesses of muslin bound together with silk binding tape and stitched across on the machine.) A Madeira set is more practical than any other because its linen is dead-white and therefore will not fade or "bleach out" if acids are applied to it to remove fruit stains or other bad stains.

M. L.: "Do you like the glass coasters which go under tumblers to protect the table or luncheon dolly from spilled water? If so, what kind are easiest to have—the silver-rimmed ones?"

Answer: Yes, I personally like, and always use, coasters. For ordinary, everyday, family wear, the cut glass ones are best, as they require no silver-cleaning. Or you can use the very inexpensive green kind imported from Europe. But for guest occasions the silver-rimmed coasters are of course most effective. Many folk consider these coasters out of style—but it's all a matter of taste. They are particularly useful in families where there are children, or when one has child-guests frequently. They save much laundering and drying of wet table cloths or dollyes.

Mrs. L. M.: "Some time ago one of our readers asked for a good orange marmalade recipe. You gave her a fine one, but here is one which I can recommend too: Slice thinly enough oranges to fill one standard measuring cup. Add two and one-half cups of cold water and let stand several hours (three hours or longer). Then bring slowly to a boil and cook thirty minutes, or till the rinds are tender. Let stand over night, and in the morning add the juice of one lemon and as much sugar as the whole measures. Boil rapidly uncovered, for twenty-two minutes, when the liquid should form a jelly when cooled. Turn into sterilized glasses, and cover with paraffine when cold."

Answer: Thank you for this excellent recipe.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS

It was seventy-eight years ago, in 1848, that Xenia may be said to have inaugurated its present system of having a superintendent in charge of the schools.

Contract for a new building for Xenia provided for by the election of September 20, 1847, was let March 11, 1848. This first building stood on the site of the old Central building on E. Market St. and was completed before the close of the year; at least, records show the board of education elected the first city public schools superintendent, January 1, 1849.

Joelish Hurty was the first school head. He continued in charge until the close of the school year, July 11, 1851. During the two and one-half years he was in charge, he placed the schools on a more or less graded basis with all work confined to common school branches.

Second superintendent was D. W. Gillman, appointed in 1851. He was succeeded at the close of the year by James P. Smart, a minister, who was appointed by the board July 21, 1852. He resigned July 21, 1855. P. H. Jaquith was named to fill the vacancy and remained with the schools until the close of 1857.

J. E. Twitchell took the position in September, 1857 and managed the schools for four years. He resigned June 25, 1861. First graduates of the high school appeared in 1859: Matthew Allison, Etta Fahnestock and Mary Heath. The high school course was first organized in 1856 but Twitchell strengthened it and placed it on a firm basis.

George S. Ormsby became school head in 1861 and served for eighteen years. He was followed in 1879 by George W. Welch for three years, who was in turn replaced by Edwin B. Cox in 1882. Cox served until his death January 22, 1912 after which the board elevated George J. Graham to the superintendency.

Mr. Graham remained until the close of the school year of 1915-16 when he resigned. Upon his resignation, John R. Patterson was elected. At the close of his first term he was elected for a five-year period. He was succeeded by C. A. Walts who resigned in 1925. Harper C. Pendry is the present superintendent serving his first term.

SPORTSMAN KILLED

NEW YORK, June 7.—Heywood Cutting, sportsman, explorer and wealthy member of an old New York family was killed yesterday in an automobile accident near Glen Cove, L. Today's Talk

PUNISHMENT

Somehow or other I can never reconcile punishment with a religion of love. And the religion of love is the only one I know anything about.

When a person does wrong and knows that he does wrong, he suffers enough.

Persons will never make this world a better world. To punish a child doesn't make that child good, but merely distorts his sense of proportion and pours the poison of fear into his ungrown life.

The God that I love doesn't punish people. He merely plants understanding in their hearts and they punish themselves when they do that which is illegal in the conduct of their lives.

All physical and state punishment is a species of ignorance. Just as war is a method of ignorance and cruelty.

You find no trace of punishment in nature.

There is perfect harmony in the natural world. Even the disturbances that arise from time to time, tend only to equalize and benefit.

If nations would spend what they do for arms and powder for education, teaching men to think and to become useful and beneficial, there would be no misunderstandings that could not be settled easily over a conference table.

All offenders against society are ignorant people, no matter how keen their minds may be. To punish such people is to go into the error with them and share their guilt.

Jesus never taught punishment. And where in all history can you find an example of such conduct and inspiring character?

When a state takes a life does it give back to this world the life which its victim took away?

HANNA'S GREEN SEAL PAINT

Protection---

In August as well as January

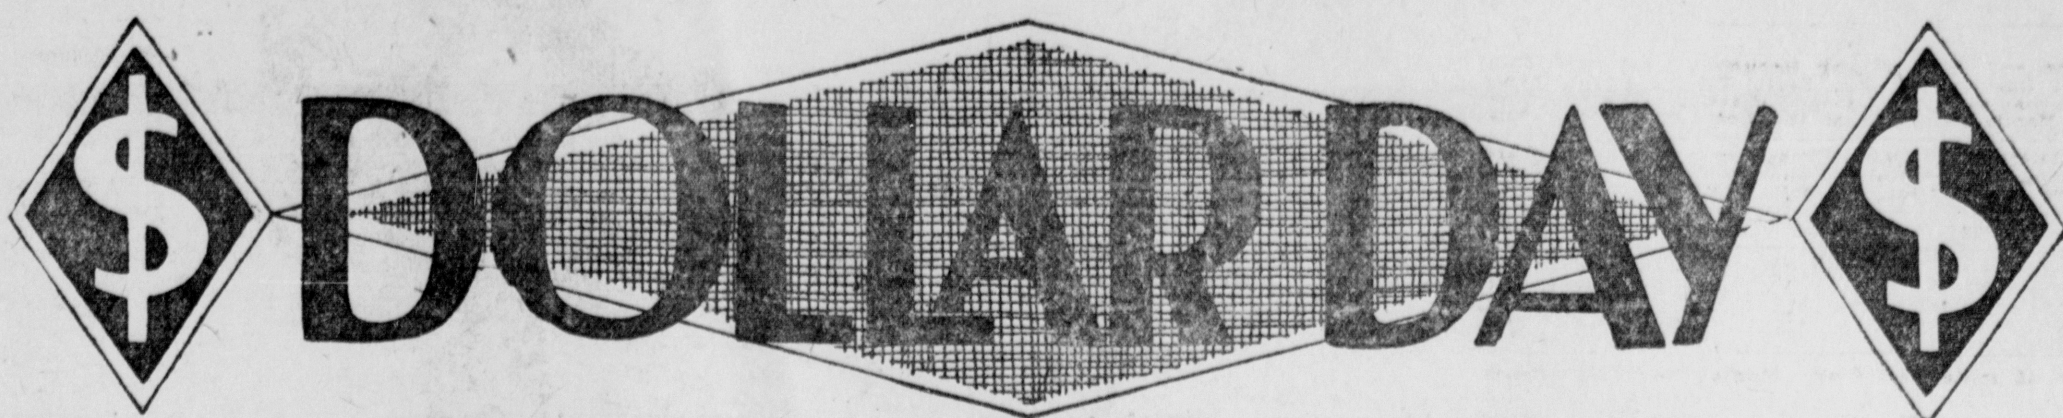

Constantly, 365-days-in-the-year, good paint protects property against the destructive effects of hot summers and cold winters. Moisture is kept from penetrating the wood surfaces, and quick changes in temperature cannot harm the building if it is properly painted.

To get the maximum in the protecting power of paint use Hanna's GREEN SEAL. It forms a tough film over the surface, impenetrable by the weather. The surface is kept insulated from the elements that would age and destroy it.

MAYOR CALLS MEETING TO PLAN OBSERVANCE OF INDEPENDENCE

Sixty Xenia business men were asked by Mayor John W. Prugh to attend a meeting at City Hall Tuesday afternoon to outline the proposed Xenia observance in connection with "American Independence Week," from June 23 to July 5, inclusive.

Country-wide celebration of the 150th anniversary of American independence is being sponsored by the Sesqui-Centennial and Thomas Jefferson Centennial Commission of the United States, authorized by congress.

It is urged that a "united and uniform effort" be made in accordance with the plan for "American Independence Week" Mayor Prugh invites active support of the program for the week.

One of the purposes of the Tuesday meeting was to appoint a necessary committee to promulgate a special message calling on the people to assist in carrying out the educational and patriotic purposes of the plan.

The nationwide plan for the week follows:

JUNIOR NATIONAL CHAMPION

Fourteen-year-old Florence Goga, of Homestead, Pa., is the junior national A. A. U. 150-yard swimming champion. She will compete in the association's championship meet in Philadelphia August 4 to 7. This meet is part of the mammoth sports program for the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing to December 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

DELCO DEALERS AT CONVENTION HERE

Delco light dealers and service men of the Dayton district were present at a district convention held Monday at the Elchman and Miller Electric Shop, W. Main St. The convention took the form of a service school on new products.

At noon the local Delco agents and visitors enjoyed a sumptuous chicken dinner served at the Goody Shoppe. Following the dinner, short talks were given by O. F. Wampler, Dayton Sales branch manager, Mr. Glass district supervisor and County Agent Kimber.

In the evening a free moving picture was shown at the Caesars-creek High School by the Delco Light Co.

INSURANCE EXPERT HEARD BY ROTARY

W. J. Gilsdorf, Columbus, representative of The Insurance Co. of North America, told Xenia Rotarians "What the Businessmen Should Know About Insurance," at the Elks' Club, Tuesday noon.

He gave varied statistics concerning the value of insurance to business men and urged their having faith in insurance to safeguard their property.

Singing of old-time love songs, including "Annie Rooney," "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean" and other time-worn melodies, led by Spencer Shank, was an amusing number on the luncheon program.

BABY CLINIC HELD AT CENTRAL HIGH

Kiwanis-Social Service League baby clinic was held in the new quarters, Central High School, for the first time, Tuesday morning. Two rooms in the second floor of the school have been fitted up for the weekly clinics.

Dr. H. C. Messenger and Mrs. H. A. Hoffman, nurse were assisted by Mrs. James D. Adair, Mrs. C. E. Arbogast, and Mrs. J. H. Whitmer, wives of Kiwanians.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Theo. J. Foreman, 210 S. Center St., Springfield, assistant shipping clerk, and Billie Burgette, 907 Innisfallen Ave., Springfield, were refused a license because of non-residence.

Elmer Ellsworth Grody, Osborn, laborer, and Clementine Shroyer, Osborn, Rev. V. P. Brown, Samuel Kjelwein, machinist and Alice Gill, R. R. 4, Xenia. Rev. F. W. Stanton.

"Patriot's Pledge of Faith Day." Procedure of observance is to take form of ringing bells in schools and churches as the "Echo of the Liberty Bell."

Tuesday, June 29—"Universal Education Day," observed with special patriotic and educational exercises.

Wednesday, June 30—"Founders' Day," observed with a special meeting of patriotic societies honoring the founders of America.

Thursday, July 1—"Greater America Day" when patriotic public meetings reviewing American territorial expansion should be held.

Friday, July 2—"Signer's Day," to be observed with patriotic meetings, pageants or performances recalling the signers of the declaration of independence and their work.

Saturday, July 3—"Monticello Day" featured by parades, outdoor or indoor meetings honoring the establishment of Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, as a national memorial.

Sunday, July 4—"Jefferson Centennial Day," honoring the 100th anniversary of the death of Thomas Jefferson, author of the declaration of independence and featured by church services as well as public memorial services.

Monday, July 5—"Sesqui-Centennial Independence Day," honoring the 150th birthday of the nation and observed with patriotic exercises and celebrations.

It is Mayor Prugh's plan to obtain local observance of the week at least on Monday, June 28.

BREAD FROM THE BAKERY HAS REPLACED KIND "MOTHER USED TO MAKE" IN XENIA

Where is the bread that Mother used to bake? Home-baking is another of those factors of home life, which, prominent a few years ago, have now almost disappeared.

It used to be that almost every woman did her own baking. "Mother's bread" was considered an inferior commodity, to be purchased only when Mother was ill or in some other emergency. Today, mothers have done away with the drudgery of baking the same way they have done away with other things to lighten the housekeeping burden.

The farmer's wife may still take a dozen rounded, brown loaves of bread from her own oven every Saturday and feed them to a hungry family, but the wife of the city dweller or the resident of the small town is much more likely to order her bread from the corner grocery.

on the decline but all pastries that were formerly made in the home kitchen. Pies, rolls, small cakes and cookies are purchased at the corner delicatessen nowadays. Xenia housewives, through the expenditure of a few cents, can have their sweets and bread through a hasty purchase at the nearby grocery or bakery.

Bakeries are now turning out bread more cheaply than ever and its quality is steadily rising. The women who still bake at home are few and far between and skill with the baking board and rolling pin is no longer a matrimony requirement.

But after all, the bread that Mother used to make was "different," wasn't it. Right now we wish we had a generous slice, with home-made jelly and butter, spread thick!

Less home-made bread is consumed in Los Angeles, than in any other American city, estimates of the American Society of Baking Engineers show. Over ninety-eight per cent of that city's bread supply comes from the baker. Evidently moving picture actors and actresses don't relish coming off the "lot" after a hard day of registering many emotions and then mixing up a nice, big batch of bread.

Not only is home-made bread

Fourteen track and field events and four swimming contests have been arranged for the amateur stars of the cinder path and water to be found in Troops No. 1 and 2, Boy Scouts of America, at their combined athletic meet June 16, it is announced.

The Scout outing will be held near the Adair cottage along the Little Miami River.

Departing from annual custom of dividing the troops and staging an intra-troop meet, followed in former years, this year's frolic will determine the athletic superiority between the two troops.

The meet will begin at 1 o'clock, fast time, and will be followed by a baseball game between the troops.

Officials for the events are George Geyer, Dr. H. C. Messenger, Schuyler McClellan, the Rev. W. H. Tilford and Scoutmasters R. H. Kingsbury and J. J. Stout.

Three points will be awarded for first place, two for second place, one for third place in each event and ten to the troop winning the diamond engagement.

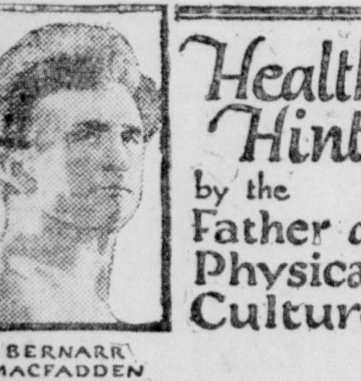

The following swimming events have been arranged: 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, 300-yard swim, 300-yard relay (three men). Track and field events follow: tug-of-war, standing and running broad jump, string burning, stand-ing and running high jump, fire by friction, pole vault, squad drill, 50-yard dash, 100-yard dash, one mile run, one mile relay (four men), and signalling (four men).

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture
BERNARD MACFADDEN
The material that is used for the building up of cells, and thereby for the building up of newer and better tissues all through the body is taken from the food that is digested in the stomach and in the small intestine. This vitalized nourishment is carried to all parts of the body by the blood on its mission of building up the new cells, and hence the tissues.
But what of the dead matter—the portions of the old cells that are constantly dying off? Such matter must be removed from the body, or very soon the system will become so clogged that death will follow from stagnation or toxic conditions.
The dead matter is found in the tissues mainly in the form of carbon and its compounds. The new blood that the arteries carry from the heart to every portion of the body is laden with oxygen from the air that we breathe. The carbon is burned up, or rather combines with the oxygen and the result is a new compound, a gas that is called carbonic acid gas, or carbon dioxide. By the time that the bright red arterial blood has performed its mission of carrying new cell-food to the tissues, and has become the dark-colored impure venous blood, it is heavily charged with carbonic acid gas and other products of the burning up of the carbon by the oxygen.
The kidneys, the liver, the skin, and the large intestine do their share of the work of excreting waste matter from the body—but of this same work the lungs form the great central market wherein is effected the exchange of the bulk of the worthless waste matter for the new and good matter that is used in building and strengthening and invigorating the physical system.
An inhalation of air supplies the new oxygen that the purified blood needs before it can start properly equipped on its new round through the body; while the act of exhaling air from the lungs forces out of the body all of the poisonous gas that the venous blood had brought to the lungs. Therefore if the work of building up the body and of removing the waste, dead cell-matter is to be carried on, the supplies of fresh air to the blood must be both frequent and generous.

The Theatre

Sesqui-Centennial Auditorium

This huge building will seat 20,000 persons on a single floor. It was erected on the site of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which opened in Philadelphia June 1 and which will continue to December 1, celebrating 150 years of American independence. Here are held all the great musical programs, receptions, dances and other social activities in connection with the Sesqui. The structure, built of steel and stucco, was erected in about 150 working days. This picture was made from the roof of the giant Palace of Liberal Arts and Manufacturers.

The Book God Wrote

Being a series of articles on why the Bible is the inspired word of God and answering critics of its authenticity, prepared and written by.

THE REV. D. A. SELLERS, First Reformed Church

My fifth reason for believing the Bible is the Word of God is because of its marvelous preservation and its wonderful indestructibility.

No other book has ever been hated and hunted down as the Bible has been. Away back in the early history of the church, edicts, backed by all the power of the mighty Roman Empire were issued that every Bible should be burned and that everyone that had a Bible should be burned. Yet there were always faithful men and women that loved the old Book better than life and hid away copies of it willing to make even the greatest sacrifice for the sake of God's Word, that it might be preserved to bless mankind.

For more than 19 centuries every engine of destruction that human science, philosophy, wit, reasoning or brutality could bring to bear upon a book has been brought to bear upon the Bible to stamp it out of the world, but it has a mightier hold on the world now than it ever had before.

The French philosopher, Voltaire, over a century ago made his great attack on the Bible. He said that in 100 years the Bible would be a forgotten book. Yet we are told that the very building in which Voltaire sat as he wrote that statement is today used as a distribution center for Bibles.

The books of Shakespeare have the greatest circulation of any book outside of the Bible. His works are translated into forty languages and 100,000 copies are issued annually.

But the Bible speaks in 725 languages and dialects and more than 20,000,000 copies are issued every year.

Now who could account for this except on the ground that God is preserving His own Book?

Explains How Enlarged Veins Can Be Reduced

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first class drug store and apply it at home as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil has brought much comfort to worried people all over the country; is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. Sayre's Drug Store sells lots of it. —Adv.

"The Cocoanuts" report regularly about $34,000. "The Vagabond King" runs around $30,000 weekly and "Tip Toes" around $25,000. The leading dramatic successes are "Lulu Belle" and "The Shanghai Gesture." The former does about $21,000 worth of business each week and the latter about $26,000. These are the leaders, but other plays show a nice profit of from $9,000 to $20,000 weekly. The difference between the running cost of a play and its box office takings is usually split between the producer of the play and the theater management, generally on a two-thirds and one-third basis.

"Outside of escaping the Volstead law there is now no reason for New Yorkers going to Paris," says Metcalfe in the theater department of The Wall Street Journal. "The study of feminine anatomy, which has directed the voyaging of many Americans towards the Folies Bergeres and similar Parisian resorts, can now be carried on quite as thoroughly on our own Broadway. Opinions about the necessity or desirability of this kind of education so disseminated may vary, but New York has evidently decided that it wants a good part of its theatrical amusement conducted along Parisian lines, so that's that, and there seems to be no reason for further discussion in the matter."

"So pretty

I wondered that Madame dared~

But just see how beautifully it did wash"

What a joy to know that filmy summer frocks, when you make them of Aberfoyle Fabrics, can be laundered as often as you will! What glorious satisfaction to find after each washing that they are just as bright, fresh and lovely as they were the first day you wore them.

And here is something about Aberfoyle materials that will save you lots of time and bother. You can put them right in the regular wash with the general household laundry. Whether soft-textured, lustrous rayons, dainty cotton tissues, or unique combinations of cotton and rayon—they require no unusual care. For each charming fabric you admire at the counter has been thoroughly laundered before you see it.

Not a yard of material leaves the Aberfoyle mills until it has first been thrown into huge tubs and washed with soap in warm water. That is why Aberfoyle can make this guarantee—"absolutely fast to sun and washing."

Be sure you ask for Aberfoyle the next time you want a smart, distinctive washable material. Look for the name on the ends of boards that carry the goods. Aberfoyle Fabrics, the products of the Aberfoyle Manufacturing Company, are sold by better retailers and department stores everywhere.

Balloon Racing Is Latest Sport To Thrill the European Public

The latest fad, balloon chasing, is taking Europe by storm. It started in France, at the Aerostatic park in St. Cloud. Balloons are released and participants in the game chase the runaway bag in autos. Of course the sport is a bit tough on the pedestrian. Photo shows start of one of the balloon chases and Mme. Charlotte Vetsigny and Mlle. Rivel, winners of one contest.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

NANCY LARRABEE has remained in New York with her mother.

VIRGINIA, while her husband, a young army officer.

JIM LARRABEE, goes to the Philippines. They become estranged and she writes him that she wants to divorce him and marry Bill Ewing. She received a cablegram saying that Jim has died at sea, and realizes that it is Jim she loves.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XLV—A CHANGED MAN

I COULD hardly believe my eyes, when I saw Jim there before me in the railway station. "Oh, Jim!" I cried, and broke through the crowd to throw my arms around his neck.

"Well, this is a great welcome," he exclaimed, and kissed me. He turned then to two men who were beside him, and introduced me. "Where are we living, Nancy?" he asked.

"Where are we living, Nancy?" he asked. And when I gave him the name of the hotel where I was staying, he urged the men to stay there too. "You might as well; all hotels are the same to you fellows in this town," he said.

I didn't understand. I was puzzled by seeing Jim alive, and so happy, that I could hardly speak. But I did wish that he'd at least let his friends follow us in another taxi, instead of going in the one we took.

He talked with them all the way. They were strangers in New York, and he insisted on pointing out things to them, hardly speaking to me.

"You'll dine with us, of course," he said, when the business of registering at the desk was over. "And then we'll take in a show. I want to have you see the town tonight."

I said nothing to him until the door of our own sitting-room had closed behind us. Then I could be quiet no longer.

"Jim, aren't you glad to see me?" I can't understand the way you're acting. It seems so queer. Why did you bring those two men right along with us? Didn't you want to be alone with me?"

"Not particularly," he answered, casually.

"But Jim, I—I thought you were dead—and now here you are—and you don't care for me any more!"

"Thought I was dead!" he exclaimed. "Well, that's a hot one. How in the world did you get that idea?"

I told him about the message I'd received, saying that he had died at sea.

"Well, I can't understand—though—oh, this is it. A sailor named Larrabee died at sea, on the way home, and evidently it got twisted with my name, Larrabee—though I certainly don't understand—oh well, I'm here, alive; that's all that matters."

"Yes, it is," I answered. I stood there looking at him, realizing that I loved him more than ever. But I couldn't understand his attitude. He strolled around the room without taking off his coat, lighted a cigarette, asked about Virginia, treated me as if I'd been someone whom he knew just slightly and didn't care for particularly.

"How did you like the Philippines?" I asked finally. If he could be casual, so could I! "Oh, very much. Awfully hot, but after you get used to the climate it isn't bad at all. And of course you get to know the other people in the regiment very well, better than you do in a big post."

"I suppose you got to know Celia Eaton very well indeed?" I remarked.

"I sure did, sharing the house with her and Bill. She made us awfully comfortable—certainly is a good housekeeper, for all she looks so helpless. Bill doesn't appreciate her, though. In fact—well, they've separated. Celia came home on the transport I took. She's going to get a divorce."

Divorce, divorce! I wished I'd never heard the word.

Suddenly I felt that I understood Jim's new attitude. I had written him that I loved someone else, and he had come home to get his freedom, and marry Celia.

Well, he should have it! I seemed to read my thoughts.

"I suppose we ought to have a talk and settle things," he suggested. "Yes—but let's dress for dinner first. Let's see—I'll use Virginia's room and you can have mine."

"All right."

He picked up one of his bags and sauntered off through the door I'd indicated, whistling. I turned slowly and went into Virginia's room.

What a treasure of love I'd thrown away, when I wrote that message to him! I'd lost him now, forever, and nobody could ever take his place.

I asked myself hopelessly why I hadn't realized the truth, why I hadn't gone to the Philippines with him when he was ordered there, instead of staying in New York and making a perfect idiot of myself.

If only girls could really learn something about life in school, instead of just studying French and Latin!

CHAUTAUQUA AGENT
GIVES OUT TICKETS
FOR ADVANCE SALES

Chautauqua season tickets have been delivered to the local committee and early advertising has been placed by Paul A. Potts, first advance representative of the Red-path program, scheduled for Xenia, July 8 to July 14, inclusive. With the annual event less than four weeks distant, there is being planned a systematic campaign that should put chautauqua over the top, "bigger and better than ever."

Never have there been so many outstanding features on a Red-path program, as this year, according to Mr. Potts. Perhaps the headline musical event will be the Moscow Artists Ensemble—a large chorus of Russians, who present their native songs to balalaika accompaniment. Unique Russian dances will be interspersed by Mlle. Nina Sergeyeva, who also is something of a comedy artist. Costuming, scenery and lighting for this Russian extravaganza will be on an elaborate scale, especially in their presentation of "The Wedding Feast."

Two remarkably fine plays—Channing Pollock's drama, "The Fool," and Barry Connors' comedy, "Applesauce," are slated for chautauqua. Another production is the Tyrolean Yodler specialty, "Echoes of the Alps." Harold Lewis and his Symphony Players also will delight the musically inclined.

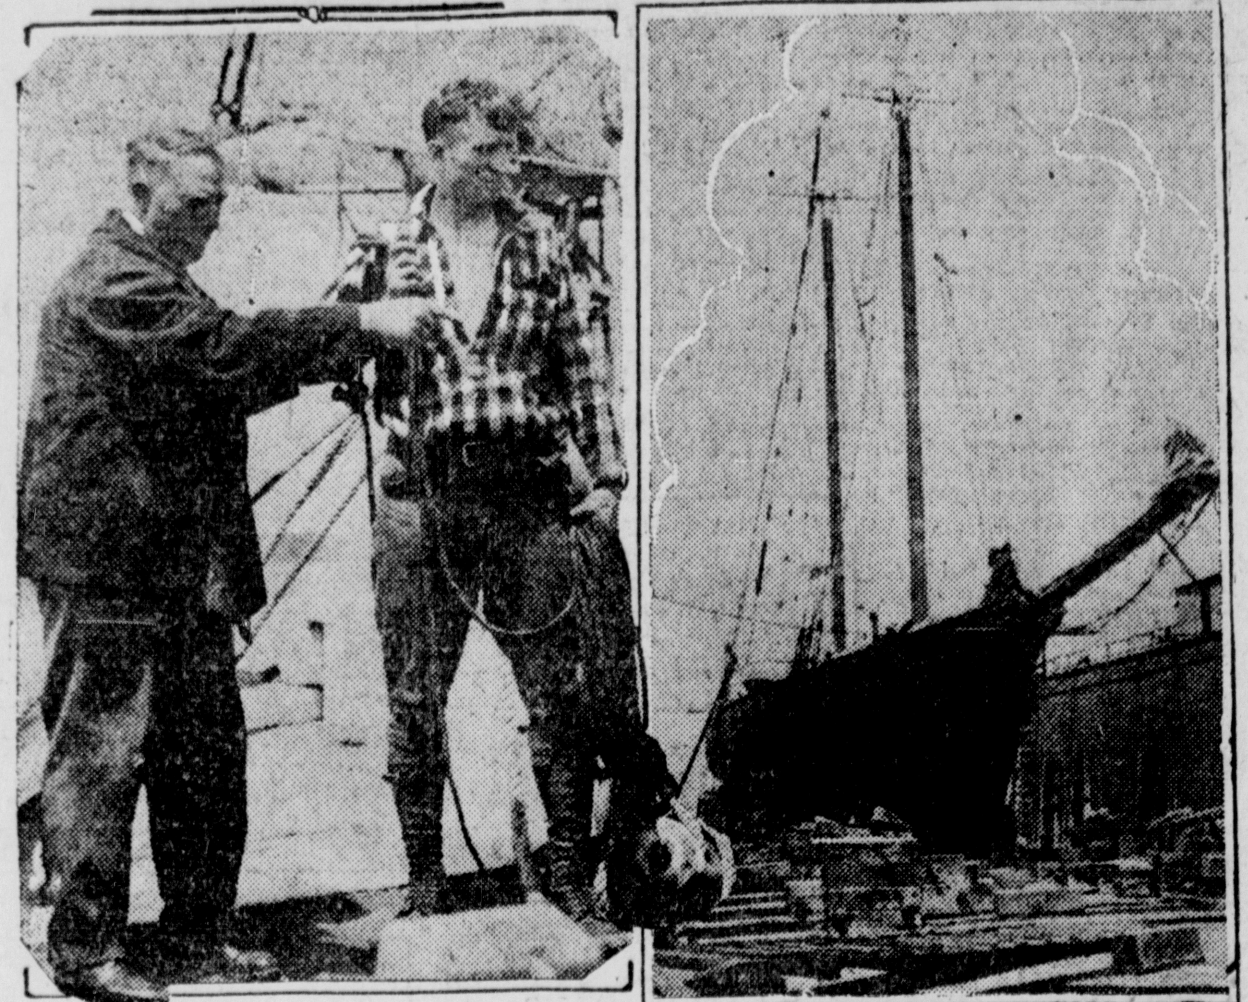

Howard Wade Kimsey, probably the foremost song director in America, will launch community singing on chautauqua's third day. Anne Campbell, who writes a daily poem for the Detroit News, will entertain with her verses. Harrison Croftford, dramatic artist, will present a miscellaneous program. Al Baker, magician and ventriloquist, will delight the youngsters on the closing afternoon.

From a lecture standpoint chautauqua is to be an instructive week of enjoyment. Charles H. Plattenburg, on the opening night, will discuss "The Modern Tale of Two Cities." Sam Grathwell, on the second afternoon, will describe the art of "Getting by Your Hoodoo." John H. Dickison will have two popular lectures on the third day, while Thomas Curtin, international newspaper correspondent, will answer interestingly "What is Ahead for Europe?"

Junior chautauquans will present an historical pageant, "The Quill," based on the 150th anniversary of American Independence.

Peony show, under auspices of Xenia Garden Club, will be held next Friday and Saturday in the

Scientists Sail on New Far-North Expedition

Another expedition into the far north gets under way this month—the American Museum of Natural History's scientific cruise. No attempt will be made to reach the pole, as the aim of the expedition is simply to study animal and plant life in the arctic. Photos show Captain Robert Bartlett, Carl Durand and the converted Newfoundland fishing schooner, "Morrissey" in which the voyage will be made. Captain Bartlett was a member of Peary's 1909 Pole expedition and is, today, the only living white man who has come within 100 miles of the North Pole on foot. Carl Durand plans to use his famous lariat on muskox and walrus.

Allen Building, W. Main St., it was announced Monday. Through the show, the Garden Club hopes to educate flower lovers to cultivate better plants. Both flowers and roots of the plants will be sold.

FOUR ARRESTED IN
RAID MONDAY NIGHT

Four men arrested in a raid on the home of Kenneth Lyle, Union Road, at 11 o'clock Monday night, are in the County Jail awaiting arraignment on various liquor charges Tuesday or Wednesday.

Lyle, Ed. Fox, Carl Craig and a fourth man named Chambliss were arrested in the raid conducted by Sheriff Morris Sharp, Deputy Sheriff George Spencer, Patrolman Charles Thompson and Special Deputy Sheriff Oliver Belde.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drug store.—Adv.

Lyle is charged with possessing liquor and intoxication, Fox with intoxication and interfering with an officer and Chambliss and Craig with intoxication.

Fox is said to have seized a pint bottle of liquor found by Deputy Spencer but was prevented from destroying it by Sheriff Sharp.

Lyle's case was turned over to Mayor John Prugh for disposition. Police say he was convicted of intoxication and fined $25 and costs only Monday morning.

The manufacturers who contract to make these different products must use the ingredients specified in the formulas; thus eliminating any chance of getting any inferior foods. They are all, as a final test, carefully inspected.

"E" BRAND PRODUCTS are manufactured in very large quantities and are produced on a minimum profit basis. This is the reason why the housewife can buy "E" BRAND quality products and at the same time save on her weekly grocery bill.
